2021-2022 Volunteer Team Experience

Bring your team for a productive day of giving back and team building on the 21 Acres campus.

WHO WE ARE

The 21 Acres campus is a living laboratory in Woodinville, Washington where community comes together to learn and act on climate change.

Our campus hosts a LEED Platinum-Certified building (one of the first in the greater Seattle area), a farm managed with regenerative practices, a local foods Farm Market and distribution center, and work spaces that are integrated with the natural environment.

Situated just 30 minutes east of Seattle in the Sammamish Valley Agricultural Production District, 21 Acres sits at the crux of urban and rural land. Founded in 2006, 21 Acres is a nonprofit family foundation.

21 Acres volunteers support a broad range of projects on the farm, from seeding to planting, weeding, mulching, and more. Volunteers are vital partners in reaching our land stewardship goals and are passionate changemakers in climate action, regenerative farm practices, green energy, and our food systems.
